

The Toxic Vicious Circle

By Eileen Chubb ©

My views on regulators and Safeguarding are based on the thousands of help-line cases I have received every day over many years. These cases show the following, 96% of callers have already contacted regulators such as the CQC and Safeguarding prior to contacting our help-line.

The same 96% of callers are contacting Compassion in Care because they have exhausted every regulator and authority and no action has been taken to address their concerns.

What this clearly shows is that regulators and other authorities are a complete failure and no amount of tinkering around the edges will ever put right the incompetence, complacency, dysfunctional and dishonest culture that has pervaded such institutions.

Compassion in Care has fought every day for nearly two decades for the law PIDA to be revoked and replaced with Edna's Law, because we know only too well that any law that relies on prescribed regulators to act is never going to protect anyone except those who need to be held accountable.

We currently have a situation where the lobbyist groups WBUK and Constantine Cannon are using the vehicle of a APPG, All Party Parliamentary Group on whistle-blowing to drive their own agendas of incorporating the US bounty hunting system which includes the office for the whistle-blower sham, which amounts to yet another regulator model to push the fictional notion that regulators act to protect the public from harm.

Whilst the unscrupulous are feathering their own nests, those with no voice continue to suffer, die and be abused every hour of every day. Money drives the Office for the whistle-blower agenda, Justice drives the campaign for Edna's Law
